

Abstract of the Disclosure

Telecommunications System with a Switching Facility and a Data Concentrator for Providing Access to the Internet

A method of operating a telecommunications system with a switching facility and with subscriber channels over which digital data are transmissible in the form of data packets each including a destination address, and such a telecommunications system are characterized in that the data packets of two or more subscriber channels to be sent to the Internet are combined onto a single concentrating channel.